

TUESDAY'S VOTE IS SIGNIFICANT AS A GUIDE TO FUTURE

FOSS RE-ELECTED IN MASSACHUSETTS, KENTUCKY GOES DEMOCRATIC, MARYLAND RE-PUBLICAN.

NEW YORK REPUBLICAN

Also Legislature in New Jersey—Philadelphia Elects Democratic Mayor—Socialists Gain Through-out the Entire Country.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Election returns from various states this morning show some uncertainty of the reports last night. In Massachusetts, Gov. Foss, a democrat, was re-elected, but in Maryland by republican state officials.

In Maryland the returns are coming in slowly. At Annapolis this morning the election of Goldsborough, republican, as governor, was apparent.

There were reversals from the republican to the democratic party in Kentucky and Ohio. McGee was elected governor of Kentucky by over thirty thousand. The legislature will have a democratic majority of probably 85.

In Ohio, Cleveland and Columbus have elected democratic mayors. New York and New Jersey replaced democratic assemblies with republicans.

The republican will hold the New York assembly by upwards of fifty, as against a present democratic majority of 24.

In New York City, the republicans generally speaking, had the best of it. Tammany retained its grip on Manhattan and Bronx, but lost Brooklyn and control of the board of aldermen.

In New Jersey, which has a democratic assembly and a republican senate, the republicans will control both houses. A republican executive was chosen in Rhode Island.

With incomplete returns of half the counties in New Mexico, indications point strongly to the election of the entire democratic state ticket.

Philadelphia elected as mayor, Blankenbiller, an independent republican, by 4561.

Late returns indicate the republicans captured every state office in Nebraska. In the third congressional district, Stephens, a democrat, was elected. Omaha elected a democratic sheriff.

Democratic Landslide. Louisville, Nov. 8.—Practically all the democratic candidates were elected by the heaviest majorities given in years. McGree's majority for governor exceeds thirty thousand.

The legislature and joint assembly is democratic insuring the election of Congressman James, a democrat to the United States Senate.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Both the old political machines, the Rogers Sullivan faction in the democratic party, and the Lorimer band in the republican ranks, were definitely put to rest in the city judicial elections, according to final returns today.

Still in Doubt. Santa Fe, N. Mex., Nov. 8.—Although the returns from yesterday's elections are far from complete, indications are that the democrats have elected W. C. McDonald by a plurality of 2,500 and that the entire democratic ticket won. The republicans refused to concede the defeat of Burson, their candidate.

Johnson's Friend. Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Newton D. Baker, former lieutenant of the late Tammy, was elected mayor of Cleveland yesterday by the largest plurality a candidate ever received, returns today indicate. The two million dollar bond issue for a municipal lighting plant also carried.

Progressive Delegates. Returns received in Columbus today indicate that 35 counties show 61 progressive delegates elected to the constitutional convention, making it certain the initiative, referendum and recall will be written in the new Ohio constitution.

In the Cities. Six cities in Ohio elected socialist mayors: Lima, Lorain, Martin's Ferry, Portersburg, Canton and Mount Vernon. At Cincinnati the Cox machine was completely routed. Mayor Schwab, who carried the endorsement of President Taft, was defeated by a plurality of 4,000.

Whitlock Re-elected. Grand Whitlock was re-elected mayor of Toledo for the fourth time. His plurality will be between 2,500 and 4,000. W. F. Reis, socialist, polled about 4,500 votes, the heaviest vote ever cast for a socialist. Socialist gains are reported from throughout the state.

In Cleveland. In the election of Baker in Cleveland the entire democratic ticket was swept into office with him. His plurality was about 17,000. The victorious candidate declared the result was a "monument to Tom L. Johnson."

George Karb, democrat, was elected mayor of Columbus by about 5,000. He was pushed hard by the socialist and republican candidates.

Another Socialist. Crookston, Minn., Nov. 8.—By a majority of 91 votes, H. L. Larson, socialist, was elected mayor of Crookston, yesterday.

Still Frightened. New York, Nov. 8.—Tammany had not fully recovered from the fright it got last night, when its county ticket scraped through by the narrowest majority and the state assembly went strongly republican, not another fright today, when Samuel Kenesha, of the county committee, threatened to demand an official recount.

Sensational revelations are expected following yesterday's election throughout New York state.

Lexow Again.

Perhaps the major sensation will be the effort of Barnes, chairman of the New York committee to Lexow New York City again. When the convention took the probe deep in Barnes' affairs in Albany, the leader of the old guard retailed that it was "playing politics," and threatened if the republicans carried the approaching investigation to the legislature to out-Lexow in investigating the municipal and county affairs in New York.

Blamed Murphy. Barnes blamed "Boss" Murphy of Tammany hall, entirely for the Albany investigation and it is toward Murphy and Tammany that it is believed he will direct his chief fire. The republicans will be in complete control of the legislature and Barnes will be in a position to carry out his threat.

Socialists Strong. The socialist vote throughout New York state was surprisingly large and for the first time a socialist assemblyman will be seen in Albany. He is H. H. Merrill of Schoharie county.

Anti Machine. Boston, Mass., Nov. 8.—A general trend toward progressive policies and the vote of anti-machine republicans gave Gov. Eugene Foss a second term at the state house and defeated Proctor, republican candidate for the same office, according to assertions made here today by democrats and many republicans.

A Second Time. In the election of Gov. Foss is seen a telling blow to the republican machine of which United States Senator Lodge is called the mentor.

Foss is the second democratic state executive to be elected since the republican party came into power here fifty years ago.

Wilson's Defeat. Trenton, N. J., Nov. 8.—Despite the personal appeal of Gov. Woodrow Wilson and his energetic campaigning for a democratic legislature, the new general assembly will show a republican majority of nineteen members.

Is Significant. The defeat of Wilson is regarded as especially significant in view of the fact that he is a potential presidential candidate. A swing to the republican party was general throughout the state.

Fight Certain. The approaching session of the legislature will be watched with great interest. Governor Wilson has many radical measures he wishes enacted into law and his efforts to force them through an adverse legislature are sure to create a political fight in the state.

Maryland Republican. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 8.—For the second time since the Civil war Maryland has elected a republican governor. He is Philip Goldsboro, who, according to the latest returns, has defeated Arthur P. Gorman, Jr., democrat, by 5,000 majority. The republican victory means a complete reorganization of the democratic party in Maryland.

A Fusion Candidate. Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—Rudolph W. Baker, fusion candidate of the Keystone democratic parties was elected mayor of Philadelphia over George H. Harbo, Jr., republican, by a plurality of almost 3,000, according to the returns today. A great demonstration greeted the news. The entire Keystone democratic ticket won.

Gunness Case May Have a Parallel. Trial of Virginia Man and Woman Promises to Disclose Systematic Murders of a Similar Nature.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 8.—The trial of Mrs. Mary L. Murdock and Charles Merkle, whose case came up for court here today, develops quite a parallel to the celebrated case of Mrs. Bolle Gunness, the Indiana woman found guilty several years ago of conducting a "murder farm." Like the Gunness woman Mrs. Murdock is suspected of luring men to her little farm on the outskirts of this city and then murdering them for their money.

The specific charge upon which Mrs. Murdock and her employee, Merkle, are to be tried is the alleged murder of Harry Harding, a sailor, whose body was found in a shallow grave on the Murdock farm early last summer. The discovery resulted from a statement made by an old negro who called at the sheriff's office and reported that he had been asked by Mrs. Murdock to dig a grave at the farm.

Deputies hurried out, and digging in an onion bed where the earth showed signs of recent disturbance, found at a depth of a foot the corpse of Harding, with his head crushed in with an axe.

Following her arrest Mrs. Murdock is said to have confessed to knowledge of the crime. According to her statement, Merkle, jealous of Harding, murdered him single-handed. She said she went to sleep while the men were quarreling. Presently she awoke, put out her hand in the dark and on the pillow beside her felt the wet face of Harding smashed to a pulp. At Merkle's bidding she said she helped conceal the body under the bed, and the next night the two buried the remains in a shallow grave in the garden.

Search of the Murdock house is said to have brought to light scores of letters from men with whom the woman had corresponded through matrimonial agencies. Two men seen by the woman are said to have disappeared mysteriously. One, a Civil war veteran, vanished so completely that the thorough search made for him by his Grand Army post failed to find a trace of him.

PLACES WISCONSIN IN DOUBTFUL LIST

James L. O'Connor, Leading Milwaukee Attorney, Gives Opinion of State's Political Standing.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—"Under the existing conditions in this state, I have no hesitancy in prophesying that with President Taft as the candidate of the republican party, and a strong progressive element at the head of our party, Wisconsin will, in the next presidential campaign, be an doubtful a republican state as there is in the union."

This is the statement of James L. O'Connor, a leading Milwaukee attorney and former attorney general, in a signed article in the National Monthly for November. This magazine is published by Norman E. Mack, democratic national chairman. Under the title of "Political Conditions in Wisconsin," Mr. O'Connor reviews the progress made in progressive legislation, cautiously criticizing recent expenditures of money in large primary election campaigns in this state. He warmly commends, however, the passage of the corrupt practices act, which limits expenses, and says:

"If this law is honestly enforced, neither the national nor state elections held in this state will hereafter be decided in favor of those who have at their disposal the largest campaign fund."

After enumerating the large amounts of money spent in the Stephens campaign, Mr. O'Connor says that "at the last primary election contest for the United States senate, $214,000 was reported in a sworn statement as having been spent to defeat the re-nomination and re-election of Senator La Follette. This is the only conspicuous exception we have witnessed under the primary election where the largest campaign fund failed to secure the nomination."

After prophesying that this condition can no longer exist since the passage of a stringent corrupt practices act, Mr. O'Connor calls into question the records of Senator La Follette and Woodrow Wilson. He declares that "in one single short session of the legislature of New Jersey, under the leadership of a strong democratic governor, who combines the profound knowledge of a student with the courage and wisdom of a statesman, having opposed to him the combined forces of the democratic and republican machines, with the republicans in control of one branch of the legislature, he, nevertheless, by his courage, tact, intelligence and personality, had introduced into the laws of his state nearly every measure of reform which has required seventeen years of republican effort to accomplish in Wisconsin."

FIVE JURORS HAVE BEEN ACCEPTED BY STATE AND DEFENSE

Defense Challenged Five Men And State Two, Leaving Five Which Are Accepted by Both Sides.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8.—Five permanent jurors have now been accepted by both sides in the McNamara case. After the defense had successfully challenged five men in the box and the state two, Attorney Darrow for the defense announced today that the defense was satisfied with the five men remaining. This closed the use of pre-judgment challenges for the present and examination of remaining members of the fourth panel was resumed.

The fifth man accepted by both sides was Samuel Mendelhall, whose case was being discussed by counsel for the defense when court adjourned last night.

Is Later Reduced. After both sides in the McNamara case had finally accepted five men as jurors, Judge Fordwell reduced the number to three by examining Jurors Samuel Mendelhall and William F. Clark. These two men objected to being sworn and only consented to take the oath when the court promised to hear their urgent excuses why they should not be forced to serve. Mendelhall was excused because his mother is dying, and Clark because he is suffering from heart trouble.

SOME EXCUSE FOR MULES

But Ranch Hand Had Poor Opinion of Any Other Living Thing That Made Same Mistake.

"Recently," writes attorney Earl D. Smith of Somerton, Yuma county, Arizona, "I was obliged to remain at a primitive southern Arizona ranch over night, and at about dusk I was given a quilt, a clean sheet, and a pillow and told to take them to the top of a 20-foot alfalfa stack and make up my bed. Knowing the condition of the country, I did not murmur, and climbed the pole ladder to spend the night. I never enjoyed a better night's rest at any hotel. At early dawn I raised my head and saw two yearling mule colts feeding at the edge of the stack. We exchanged glances for a moment, while the mules' ears showed keen astonishment. Suddenly I rose to my feet, and in doing so the white sheet clung to my shoulders, whereupon the colts 'lit out' down the lane as if the Angel Gabriel were descending to take them to celestial pasturage. While at the breakfast table I related the incident, which was much enjoyed, but no remarks were made at the time. As one of the ranch hands was passing out of the door he said in a subdued but distinctly audible voice that it was the first time he had ever heard of a lawyer being mistaken for an angel, and nobody but a mule would have made such an error."

SOME RIGHT TO BE ANGRY

Foreigner's Action That Was a Knock-Out Blow to New Yorker's Idea of Courtesy.

The maddest man on a Mount Vernon-New York car the other evening was a polite man. There was the usual Sunday night crowd waiting on the curb for an opportunity to get to the subway at One Hundred and Seventy-seventh street, and only the lucky ones got seats. The aisle was filled with staidness before the car started for New York.

Only one man of sturdy build and foreign extraction was clumsily holding a baby in his arms. Beside him was his wife, also a straphanger. The polite man observed them, thought it was tough luck to have to stand with a chubby youngster in one's arms, all the way to the city, and offered his own seat to the tired couple.

The sturdy young man of foreign extraction accepted the courtesy with a murmur of thanks. He gave a sigh of relief as he sank into the vacant seat. Then he handed the baby up to his mother to hold, which she did the rest of the way.—New York Times.

The exhibit consisted of twelve specimens, each of which weighed about two pounds, and are pronounced the finest and best in this section. The crop in question consisted of three acres, from which 800 bushels were harvested.

FREIGHT WRECK NEAR LEYDEN DELAYS TRAINS

Freight Car Leaves Track Near Leyden and Ties up Passenger Traffic Yesterday Afternoon.

One of the numerous freight trains that have passed into service between Chicago and Madison, over the Chicago and North-Western road, and running to this city over the "cut-off," derailed a freight car of valuable horses near Leyden in making up the train, and as a result, all traffic was delayed for several hours.

A relief train was sent out from this city and as train 508, due here at 3:05 in the afternoon, was unable to come here via Leyden, went by way of Afton and Hanover, and at Afton all passengers for home were transferred to a special and brought to this city, and 508 went on its way south.

Train No. 52, running between here and Footville, came in an extra and then went to Afton to meet both 508 and 313 at that station to bring back all passengers who wished to come to Janesville.

The wreck was cleared up quickly and after a delay of three hours or so traffic was resumed and everything was running all right.

It so happened that the car which was derailed contained a shipment of high grade horses, en route to Chicago, and as the delay to the freight train made it so late in getting here, the owner of the horses instead of going on to Chicago unloaded the horses at this city and stabled them all night at one of the feed barns here. This morning he brought them to the stock yards and sent them on to the Windy City. There were ten horses in the shipment and they drew admiration from all who chanced to see them.

And were some of the finest horses seen in Janesville for some time. None of the horses were injured in any way in the wreck which was fortunate as the shipment is valued at over $3,500.

REPAIR DEPARTMENT A SCENE OF ACTIVITY

Unusual Amount of Work Being Done by George Whitebread and Crew in Car Repairing Department.

On account of the amount of work being done in the Janesville yards, George Whitebread and his crew of car repairers have been kept exceptionally busy for the past several weeks putting cars into shape that are placed on the bad order list for some reason or other. With a crew of about forty workmen, Mr. Whitebread has been repairing upwards of forty cars a day, and even at that high rate he is unable to meet with the demands of the road, in regard to getting the cars out of the shops as the freight traffic at this time is very heavy, and the demand for cars exceeds the supply.

While many cars belonging to the North-Western are put into shape, the bulk of the repair work is being done on foreign cars, that is, cars that belong to other roads. Some of the cars placed on the bad order track receive minor repairs, while others have almost to be overhauled. A "bug," or draught, to be replaced is one of the most common of troubles; while the trucks, fillers, doors, roofs, etc., have to be repaired on others, making the busy car men hustle to keep the repair track from being filled to overflowing. Freight traffic at the present time is at its height, and extra after extra is being ordered out and the employees at the down town yards are the busiest they have been for some time.

Other Railroad News.

Three extras were ordered out this morning. Engine 495, with Engineer Weirick and Fireman Mowatt, went to Belvidere; Engineer Mowatt and Fireman Edwards, with their destination as Belvidere, with Engine 1016; and Engineer Butsch and Fireman Honner, with Engine 1717 went to Chicago.

Four extra stock trains were out of here last night, en route to Chicago. The four trains hauled a total of nearly 175 cars.

Yardmaster Grogan did not report for duty last night on account of illness, and was relieved at his post by Switchman Bradley, who, in turn, was relieved by Switchman Garry.

Switchman Church, at the belt line, was unable to work this morning on account of illness, and is being relieved of his duties by Dan Murphy.

START CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW GARAGE INSIDE THE WEEK

New Building on East Milwaukee Street, for Edward Kemmerer, To Be Started At Once.

With the last of the old buildings that once constituted the Highland house removed from the property recently purchased by Edward Kemmerer this morning, the work of construction of the handsome new garage he purposes to erect there, will be started at once.

It will be a handsome structure—brick, steel, reinforced concrete and plate glass playing prominent parts in its construction and beauty. It will cover, approximately, a hundred square feet, giving ten thousand feet of floor space on the first floor and four thousand for storage purposes in the basement.

The front will be of steel, with plate glass windows, two wide entrances, and brick above. The offices and show rooms will be in the center of the front, the interior of which will be finished in mission style and will be quite complete. Huge plate glass windows will give plenty of light.

On each side of the entrance will be wide entrance, one for repair cars to enter by, and the other an entrance for storage. The floor will be reinforced concrete and the basement will be finished in the same manner, and will be well lighted and dry. An elevator will be installed to carry the cars up and down.

The ceiling will be of steel in which there will be huge sky lights to give plenty of light to the floor space and windows on the side will add further light as well as air to the interior. When complete, the structure will be one of the most complete garages in the state of Wisconsin.

Mr. Kemmerer stated this afternoon that the work of excavation for the basement would begin at once, probably not later than the first of next week, and the construction will be rushed as fast as possible before cold weather sets in.

An elaborate steam heating plant will be installed and the finished building will be modern in every respect.

TEACHERS LEAVE FOR STATE CONVENTION

Local Teaching Force Leaves Tonight In Body to Attend Three Days' Convention in Milwaukee.

Practically all of the Janesville teachers are planning to attend the convention of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association at Milwaukee which begins tomorrow with an address of welcome by the Governor, Miss Grace Edwards and Miss Mary E. Buckmaster are the only ones on the program this year, being the youngest number of representatives in some time.

Mr. A. H. West and Miss Georgia Hyde are secretaries of the agricultural and musical sections, respectively.

This is the fifty-ninth annual meeting of the association, and Janesville has been well represented for a number of years past. Among the speakers are Francis B. McGovern, David Starr Jordan and Booker T. Washington, all of whom are well known throughout the country. Many authorities from universities and colleges in all parts of the United States, in their different lines, are on the program, and the Janesville teachers appreciate the opportunity of having it so situated that they may attend in a body. Pleasure and sightseeing excursions are planned all over Milwaukee and everything which will add to the interest and improvement of the convention has been done by the officers in charge.

This will be one of the largest conventions of the sort which has been called in years and it speaks well for the Janesville schools to have some of its teachers on the program and in charge of the programs in their respective departments.

It is estimated that Japan consumes $15,000,000 worth of paint annually. About 85 per cent. of this total is imported. Japan also has a paint making factory, with a capital of $500,000.

RED

It's the Red Blood Corpuscles that Proper Food Makes.

An Ohio woman says Grape-Nuts food gave her good red blood and restored the roses of youth to a complexion that had been muddy and blotchy. She says:

"For 10 years I had stomach trouble which produced a breaking out on my face. The doctors gave me a long Latin name, but their medicine failed to cure it. Along with this I had frequently indigestion, nervousness and usually pain in my stomach after meals."

"I got disgusted with the drugs, stopped them and coffee of short, and quit eating everything but fruit and Grape-Nuts, with Postum for my table beverage."

The headaches, stomach trouble, and nervous weakness, disappeared almost like magic, which showed that when the cause was removed and good food and drink used nature was ready to help.

My blood was purified and my complexion became like a young girl's while my weight was increased from 90 to 120 pounds in a few months—good, solid firm flesh, where it used to be soft and flabby."

"I recommended Grape-Nuts and Postum to one of my friends, who was afflicted as I had been. She followed my advice and in a short time was restored to complete health and in about 8 months her weight increased from 100 to 148 pounds."

"Our doctor, observing the effect of Grape-Nuts and Postum in our cases, declared, the other day, that he would hereafter prescribe these food products for gastritis." Name given by Postum Co., Little Creek, Mich.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

LIFE A BURDEN TO MANY PEOPLE

Twenty-five Per Cent of Cleveland People Suffer From Nervous Debility.

"Twenty-five per cent of the people of Cleveland find life a burden and have little real happiness. The cause is nervous debility, and it is produced by modern conditions of city life." This statement was made recently by one of the physicians who are introducing a new tonic, "Tona Vita," to the Cleveland public.

According to this physician, the hustle and worry of modern life is too much of a strain on the average man or woman, and chronic nervous debility is the result. The physician claims that no individual can hope to succeed in or enjoy life when once the disease is established, and that comparatively few people know the cause of their poor health and lack of vitality.

"Tired, drooping, half-sick men and women are as common as leaves on the trees in Cleveland, and every other city," said the physician. "They have unclean appetites, poor digestion, little ambition, and feel almost too tired for work most of the time. They suffer from timidity, have no initiative, and haven't enough good, rich blood in their veins to make them capable of self-reliance. Their nerves are in such a state that they imagine themselves afflicted with various diseases at different times. The real trouble with them is debility produced by the life they lead."

"The medical profession, as a whole, has recognized these facts for a number of years, but little was done to overcome this ailment, so far as the general public is concerned, until a tonic was introduced in Europe a few years ago, which proved very effective. A company has been organized to put a similar preparation on the market in the United States. The medicine is called 'Tona Vita' in this country, and it is now being introduced in many cities here. I have charge of this work in Cleveland, and I expect to get wonderful results."

The physicians who have charge of the introduction of the medicine in Cleveland have given some astonishing five-minute demonstrations. This consists in giving the proper dose of the tonic to sufferers from nervous debility, and in five minutes requesting them to state what effect the medicine had. Some of these statements are as follows:

William Randall, 1322 E. 65th St., said: "I have really been benefited in the few minutes by the medicine; it is much better than I thought, as I didn't believe anything could help me, and this 'Tona Vita' has done so in a few minutes."

George Flickinger, 1475 Lakeside Ave., said: "I surely feel much stronger and better than five minutes ago. This medicine seems to be a wonder; it beats anything I ever took before."

Smith Drug Co. have secured the agency for "Tona Vita" in Janesville and the remarkable tonic is now on sale at their store.

BAKER CASE STILL ON IN THE COURT

The Baker Manufacturing Case Still Holds the Attention of the Court and Will Be Finished Tomorrow.

Proceedings in the Circuit Court today are composed entirely of the hearing of the evidence on both sides of the action, Joseph Zvelebek vs. The Baker Manufacturing Company of Evansville.

As the case has developed into one that will take considerable more time to finish than at first thought, it will in all probability hold over until about tomorrow noon.

The calendar for tomorrow is the same as yesterday. The above case will continue most of the morning and the next case to be heard will be beyond a doubt, continue through until the following day.

Naturally Filtered Water.

An English naturalist, who has explored the mountain ranges of the Malay peninsula, reports that in several species of bamboo, the hollow internodes—the parts of the stems between the joints—are stored with large quantities of naturally filtered water. He also discovered two species of ferns, growing on trees whose thick, fleshy stems are filled with galleries tunneled by ants, the ferns thus forming living nests for the ants.

Melancholy Days.

There are no melancholy days if we keep in tune with the bright and interesting things of life. The secret lies in being alive to what is going on about us. Don't miss the things that are worth while. This bit of philosophy applies to our advertisements. Don't let them go by unheeded. They may be the means of adding to the sum total of your happiness.

"Stint" and "Stunt."

Stint is a good word as a noun. As a verb it means something not quite so pleasing. Do not confound it with stunt, however. A stunt is something quite useless. It is the horse-play of the mountebank, and has nothing in common with honest, productive labor. A stunt is the warning to the wise that something demands to be accomplished; a good to the ignorant that time is on the wing.—Atlantic.

CARDINALS WIN IN THREE EASY GAMES

Capt. Osborn of Maroons Bowls High Score With 202 Points—Greys Still Hold First Place.

Last evening at Hockford's alley the Cardinals won three straight games from the Maroons in an exciting match. All three of the games were won with good marksmanship, though the first was closest with but four points to spare.

The second game was not so close, the Cardinals having a majority of 103 points, while the last game ended with the score being 95 in their favor. The Cardinals showed fine form during the whole evening and though Captain Osborn of the Maroons rolled high score of the match, 202, it did not count against the consistent work of the Cardinal team.

On Thursday the Reds and Greys will meet at the alley and the Greys will have to fight to hold first place. The scores last night were as follows, with the averages:

MAROONS.
Osborn, capt.	202	117 121
J. Baumann	107	121 121
McCook	127	118 118
Kueck	135	120 125
Hockett	136	137 125

CARDINALS.
Thurmer, capt.	115	102 124

W. Helge	158	167 160
E. Baumann	133	147 168
Gibson	122	180 165

Totals 711 717 765—2193

The standing of the teams follows:

Greys	8	4	.667
Cardinals	10	5	.667
Blues	8	7	.533
Reds	6	6	.500
Browns	6	9	.400
Maroons	4	11	.269

Comparing the totals of the games the Cardinals won 202 points more than the Maroons.

"GHOST BALL" USED IN LATE PRACTICE

Coach Richards Employs Unusual Methods to Train His Men for Minnesota Game.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Using the "ghost ball" for the first time this season, in the waning daylight yesterday, the Wisconsin varsity tried out Minnesota plays with a fair degree of success. Some of the varsity stars were used against the scrubs in impersonating Rosenwald, Stevens, Capron, and others of the famed Gophers in a short skrimish. The practice was secret. Signal work was continued last night in the gymnasium.

Coach Richards is much incensed at one of his most powerful backfield stars, who is said to have run down hunting at 2:30 o'clock on the morning of the Iowa game. As a consequence, it is said, he was unable to see the ball at critical moments in the play, and did not do himself justice. There is going to be a decided tightening up on the discipline in the Badger squad from now on.

WISCONSIN ALUMNI TO GATHER AT GAME

Elaborate Plans Are Being Made For Homecoming at Minnesota-Wisconsin Game.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Alumni of the University of Wisconsin from every part of the state and country are expected to attend the first annual Wisconsin alumni homecoming in Madison, to be held Saturday, Nov. 18, the date of the Wisconsin-Minnesota game. Plans are being rapidly formulated by the athletic department of the university for making the homecoming one of the biggest alumni gatherings ever held in Wisconsin.

P. W. McKimble, Kenneth Burgess is chairman and Ed Austin secretary of the committee.

The program of festivities for the entertainment of the "old grads" who attend the homecoming which has been arranged by the committee, opens with a mass-meeting for both students and alumni on Friday evening, Nov. 17, at which prominent alumni and former football stars will be speakers. S. S. Gregory of Chicago, president of the American Bar Association, will probably be the present.

At the football game on Saturday a special section will be reserved for old "W" men. Between halves of the game an entertainment, probably on the order of the Three Quarters club of Chicago, will be given for the special amusement of the alumni.

A smoker, together with several vaudeville acts to be put on by the dramatic clubs and other organizations, on Saturday night will close the homecoming, and will be the most important part of the entertainment. Here, reunion headquarters for classes, organizations and clubs will be opened, giving the graduates a chance to renew old ties.

Alumni headquarters will be maintained at the Wisconsin Union during the homecoming where the returning graduates can register and meet. Arrangements are being made to have rooms reserved for all alumni who want accommodations during their stay in order that every old grad can be properly cared for.

Peculiar Insect.

There is a peculiar insect, found in the Malay peninsula and called the "lantern fly," which is remarkable for its wings. It was only after several specimens had been captured by European naturalists and brought west for careful examination that it was discovered that a curious projection on the front of the insect's head, a kind of nose with a crenate in it, was the leaping organ. When bent back under the abdomen and suddenly released it sends the little creature flying.—Harper's Weekly.

Was a Relative.

A little child was seen walking around near "the bearded lady," at one of the sides shows at a country fair. The child being evidently on good terms with the Barker, indicated to the on-lookers that it was probably related to the bewhiskered female, so she asked the child: "Is the bearded lady your mother?" "No," answered the child, "she is my father."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The disturbance that was over the lake region yesterday has moved eastward to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It was attended by high winds on the lower lakes and along the North Atlantic coast yesterday and last night. A velocity of 61 miles per hour was attained at New York, and 60 at Buffalo. Rain continued falling on the Gulf coast, under the influence of barometric depression over the Gulf of Mexico. The precipitation was especially heavy at Charleston where four inches have fallen in the past 48 hours.

The atmospheric disturbance in the west still has its center over the Columbia Basin, but its influence is evidently extending eastward and southward. It will probably cause rain in this vicinity tonight and Thursday. The southerly winds flowing into it will cause warmer weather in this vicinity tonight.

At The Theatre

DOCKSTADER'S MINSTRELS.

The many lovers of minstrelsy will be delighted to learn that Lew Dockstader and his great minstrels will be the attraction at Myers Theater, Wednesday, Nov. 16.

Seventy years ago Dan Emmett, author of "Dixie," sat cross-legged with three companions in a little hall on the Bowery and gave the world the first melody and humor of the first part of minstrelsy. Since the introduction of the blackfaced semibrele four decades ago, it has appealed to amusement lovers. In the first part of Dockstader's Great Minstrels the comedy and melody of the old semibrele still remain. Lew Dockstader has a budget of new songs and a monologue funny enough to drive the most blasé into hysterics, and Nell O'Brien, the well known blackfaced comedian will oblige with new songs and jokes. This season's singing contingent is said to be one of rare excellence.

"PAID IN FULL"

The well known weekly publication, "Vogue," speaks of the Vagabonds and Kemper Company's production of "Paid in Full," as follows: "To Mr. Eugene Walter, practically an unknown play writer, is the New York public indebted for the first genuine dramatic surprise of the season which was literally thrust upon it at the Astor Theater, on Monday, the 3rd of December. It is refreshing to have something out of the ordinary bob up at the right moment and, in this case, there is additional reason for rejoicing because success has rested where it properly belongs."

"Paid in Full" will be seen at the Myers Theater, Saturday, Nov. 11, matinee and evening. The engagement will be notable. The Vagabonds and Kemper Company promise an elaborate production and a brilliant cast of players.

ESSENTIALS ABSENT IN MUSICAL COMEDY

"Merry Mary" Proved to be Rather Disappointing Attraction at Myers Theater Last Night.

"Merry Mary," an attraction heralded as a Chicago success, and boasting of a run at the Whitney, was presented to a very meagre, and but mildly appreciative audience, at Myers Theater last evening.

As a musical comedy it lacked nearly all the essentials in the way of acting and singing, at least, although the piece had possibilities and there were several really tuneful songs. The only part of the entire production which seemed to meet with hearty response from the audience was a "Yodler" song, which was very well rendered by Jack Kenyon in the part of "Saddie," the drunken undertaker. This one redeeming feature, however, was entirely separated from the rest of the attraction, and partook more of the nature of a vaudeville skit, superficially introduced.

The leading men took their parts in a most unsatisfactory manner, reciting their lines with consideration only. It seemed, for rapidity, in which they certainly were successful. Ruby Rothman, as the attractive young lady sought by the leading man, had a very good voice and sang several selections in a pleasing manner. The chorus was fairly attractive in appearance, but their singing lacked expression, as well as harmony. Generally speaking, the entire performance was unsatisfactory.

REASONS WHY

You should invest your surplus money in MORTGAGE LOANS and not in bond issues.

Millions of dollars in bonds have been repudiated.

Interest rates are too low for you to invest in bond issues.

Too much time is required to investigate the loyalty of bond issues.

In case of default on municipal bonds years are required to recover judgment.

If you are a citizen of the community if you help to pay your own security.

If you buy a mortgage loan you own the property on one only condition—that the debt is paid when due.

In case of default you get your security in a short space of time, without further expense to you.

In case of mortgage loan the investment is direct and simple and is subject to your control.

SANTA CLAUS ASKS

LITTLE FRIENDS TO WRITE HIM LETTERS

Asks Gazette To Forward All Letters Addressed to Him in Time For Christmas.

Santa Claus time is fast approaching. This year the dear old Patron Saint of Childhood has written the Gazette to have his mail bag filled for him this year again so he can know the wants of his friends wherever the Gazette is read.

The mail bag will be found in the window of the Gazette and any little boy or girl who wants to mail their letter themselves can do so. Those who send them through the mails must address the letters care of the Gazette and put a two cent stamp on the envelope so it will reach the office.

Write your letters on one side of the paper only and have it as clear as you can. If you do not write yourself have some older person write for you. Old Santa is getting old and while he is a jolly old soul and on Christmas Eve can find any sort of a number, still he will have hard work reading your letters if they are not written plainly. You might even print them yourself if you can. However, remember to write on one side of the paper only and have your letters all in the Gazette office by Saturday, December 16th for the mail bag is going to start that night at twelve o'clock for the North Pole to Santa's home.

Now remember, little friends of Santa, do not ask for too much. It is better to give than receive and Santa wants to please all his little friends. Perhaps he can not get you everything you ask for but he will be sure and get you something.

Thirty-three Attending Sixth Meeting of District Association Number 36 There Today.

Thirty members of Lodge No. 99, and three members of Lodge No. 11, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, went to Orfordville today to attend the sixth meeting of District Association No. 36, held there this afternoon and evening. A large number of them drove overland in buses, leaving at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and the rest went by train. The afternoon session, which opened at two o'clock, was devoted to the routine business of the association, the reading of the reports of officers, lodges and committees, and the discussion of laws and ritual. MRS. HANNAH LAWTON AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Arrested This Afternoon on Complaint of Neighbors and is Locked up in Police Station.

Mrs. Hannah Lawton, living at 317 North High street, was arrested early this afternoon on the complaint of neighbors. They allege that she abused them and called them foul names. When they tried to pacify her she fought and in self-defense they telephoned for the patrol wagon. Mrs. Lawton was locked up in the police station where she made a very noisy and troublesome prisoner, pounding on the door and walls, and calling up on the officers to let her out. It is not known what is responsible for the violent outbreak of Mrs. Lawton. About two months ago she was arrested by Street Commissioner Dan Wilkins for raking leaves and rubbish into the gutter in violation of a city ordinance. She is said to be a woman of some means and the owner of houses which she rents.

Purity Butter

Its Purity is Absolutely Secured

Madam, be reasonable. You know that unprotected butter absorbs the odor and taste of anything with which it comes in contact.

Even in your own clean refrigerator you have to be careful not to put your butter near vegetables or other food.

Just think what it must be exposed to in the open tub—dust, dirt, germs, and ill odors.

Don't you think this is reason enough for you to order Purity Butter—in its perfectly protecting package?

Purity Butter is churned from pure, rich cream—pasteurized to make positive its purity and cleanliness.

Then, fresh and fragrant from the churn, it is packed so it reaches you without harm or change.

All good grocers sell Purity Butter in the regular pound packages.

Be sure to put Purity Butter on your next grocery list—let the family try it—we know they will prefer it to any other.

The genuine comes in the yellow package—35c per lb. Costs more, but worth it.

POORER GRADES ARE IN STEADY DEMAND

Stemming Stock Is Being Purchased by American Representatives at Prices Ranging From 6c to 7c.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Edgerton, Nov. 8.—The tobacco market here remains quiet at present and very little, if any, of the better grades of the 1911 leaf is being bought up. The demand for the poorer grade, commonly called stemming stock, is very active and the local representative for the American Tobacco company is making heavy purchases at prices ranging from 6 to 7 cents.

Yesterday the firm of Hanson Bros. of warehouse No. 20 opened for sampling of the remainder of their 1910 crop, giving employment to a small force.

POTATO SHORTAGE MAKES PRICE RISE

Still Soaring as Demand Increases and Chicago Markets Go Up—Hard to Get Quality Now.

Owing to the scarcity of potatoes in Illinois and northern Wisconsin the bottom price in Chicago is 75c a bushel and consequently they are bringing from 60 to 70 cents here. Many of the farmers have stored their crop and are waiting for the price to go up, which it is doing slowly but surely and this has an effect on the markets here. Some few had been waiting to get theirs and lost the whole crop when the frozen followed the rain so slowly. High prices are being paid in the northern part of the state even now and it is expected that if the supply decreases very rapidly there will be a sharp rise in price there and all over the state. Just at present also some are hard to get in quantities as the farmers who have not sold their crop have mostly stored it and do not like to go to the extra trouble of handling them again until the price is high enough to pay them for it.

Rutabagas and white turnips, both of excellent quality and flavor, are selling at 2c a pound today. Grocers are paying as high as twenty-five cents for fresh ones today. The prices range as follows:

Headache? It's Your Liver
Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic is Needed.
Try Olive Tablets—the Substitute for Calomel.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the one substitute for dangerous calomel. They do all of calomel's work without any of its bad after effects. There is no necessity, when you take Olive Tablets, of following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel. Olive Tablets do not contain calomel or any other metallic drugs; they are a purely vegetable compound, mixed with olive oil, sugar-coated, easy to take, and never gripe or cause weakness. Thousands of people take one every night at bedtime just to prevent disturbance of the liver, constipation, bad breath, pimples, headache, etc. Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil. Dr. Edwards, calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles. Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly. "Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." All druggists sell Olive Tablets in neat pocket packages. At 10c and 25c. Made by the Olive Tablet Company of Portsmouth, Ohio, or Columbus, Ohio. Dr. F. M. Edwards, President.

STILL TIME TO NOMINATE

THOUSANDS OF VOTES RECEIVED DAILY—BALLOT BOX
AT GAZETTE OFFICE—OFFICE OPEN EVENINGS.

Candidates in one district are privileged to solicit votes in any of the other districts.
Nomination blanks and coupons must be mailed in FLAT packages—never in rolls. The blanks and coupons must be separated before they are put into the envelope.
Candidates are entitled to accept subscription payments and give receipts for same.
All communications must be directed to the "Campaign Manager."
All ballots issued upon the payment of subscriptions will be mailed to candidates immediately after the receipt of the payment, and the ballots so issued will be good to be voted at any time during the campaign.
Credit given each candidate in the list of standings is not transferable.
Candidates cannot be given to any other candidate.
Subscribers receiving The Gazette by carrier boy in the city of Janesville are privileged to pay their subscriptions in advance thereby obtaining the votes to which they are entitled upon such payment. This saves the subscribers the inconvenience of monthly collections. On such payments send the full amount to the Campaign Manager, and full credit will be given the subscribers for the amount paid. If there is anything more desirable in a home than a five passenger touring car or a fine piano, The Gazette would like to know.
On December 23, The Gazette is going to give away absolutely free, an Overland touring car, three "Schiller" pianos and many other valuable prizes. All these awards are of exceptional value and may be inspected at any time.

Everything has been done to assist the candidates to secure one of these valuable prizes at our expense, and The Gazette is now waiting to see who will be the fortunate ladies—the ladies with the most friends and the most enthusiastic adherents.
Don't get discouraged just because someone else has a few more votes than you have or some other candidate tells you that they have thousands of votes in reserve. Just go on in the same old way and pay no attention to your competitors. That is our motto. It is the person that minds his own business that gets there and the person that gets out in the front of the parade is the one that generally gets left.

In this, the second week of the campaign, ladies who have entered it have found that they had many more friends than they ever dreamed of, and daily the number of votes cast without the knowledge of these young women reaches a stupendous amount. Friends of each candidate drop into the office of The Gazette during the day and deposit a large bunch of coupons and nomination blanks for their favorite candidates, and the candidate is agreeably surprised the next day to find herself credited with a larger amount of votes than she thought she had. It is really surprising the interest that everyone seems to be taking in the candidates, and there are many ladies who are to be congratulated upon having such a host of friends.

The time of the campaign manager is always at the disposal of candidates or other friends, and he is always anxious and willing to answer questions or proffer information that will assist the candidates in any way. On any point concerning which you entertain the least doubt, call him up, and he will explain.

There is a great deal to be gained by pleading the support of your friends and untold action is always productive of better results than single efforts. Therefore, see everyone you know, tell them what you want, and make them help you.

Open Evenings.
For the benefit of those who can not call during regular office hours, the campaign department will remain open until 8 p. m. each week day evening.

Subscription Books.
Candidates and their friends are privileged to accept payments on subscriptions and in order that they may receipt for such payments we will provide them with a receipt book if they will inform the campaign department.

The Famous Inner-Player Piano The Piano Everyone Wants to Hear

YOUR friends don't ask you to play through mere courtesy if your piano is an Inner-Player piano.

You can give them real pleasure with this instrument. You can play what they like to hear, whether it be a Chopin Nocturne, a MacDowell sketch or the waltz from "The Merry Widow."

You do not have to make excuses for your playing. You are never out of practice.

The Inner-Player action in the Inner-Player piano gives you a faultless technique.

The Inner-Player gives you a touch which enables you to make the melody sing as only the best pianists can.

The Inner-Player guides you to an interpretation practically as artistic as the composer himself would be able to give.

When alone, you enjoy playing the Inner-Player piano owing to the individual expression you can impart to the music.

When you play for others your enjoyment is increased by the pleasure which you give them. It is this possessed by the Inner-Player Piano which has carried it to greater popularity than has ever been achieved by any other instrument.

No one of the many imitators of the Inner-Player Piano possess its important features. Inner-Player Pianos are sold in Southern Wisconsin only at our store.

Time to Think of Christmas Giving--The Inner-Player Piano An Ideal Gift

Each Christmas brings its own most treasured gift to be cherished above the rest. But there is one Christmas like which there can be no other--the Inner-Player Christmas.

We would wish that all who ever have the Inner-Player might receive it or bestow it as a Christmas gift. For a Christmas gift is a thing whose value in dollars is its smallest part. And the Inner-Player can never be measured in terms of money. It is a gift of man's genius to man. It is priceless.

You can arrange to give an Inner-Player for Christmas without taxing your Christmas appropriation too much. Liberal allowance on old pianos taken in exchange.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

Evansville, Wis., Nov. 8.—Miss Mary Berry entertained at the Kensington club last night at the home of Mrs. E. E. Berry. The evening was spent in conversation. Delicious refreshments consisting of pineapple salad, wafers, Nabisco's, two kinds of cake, and coffee, were served.

Mrs. Mary Tolles has returned from an extended visit with relatives in Illinois and Indiana. Mrs. Tolles was accompanied on her trip by her mother, Mrs. Elmore Morrison, the latter remaining in Indianapolis to spend several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Bowser. The first stop on their trip was in Chicago where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Althenberg, also Miss Lillian Jones, formerly of this place. From Chicago they went to Peoria, Ill., to visit Mrs. Michael Ryan, then on to Fort Wayne, Ind., to visit the Bowser's. These people are the manufacturers of the Bowser oil tank. After leaving Fort Wayne, they went to Indianapolis, where they visited Mrs. Ida Metch and Mrs. Margaret Bowser. Mrs. Tolles reports a very enjoyable visit. Mrs. Edward Wing is very dangerously ill at her home in this city.

Mrs. Virgil Hopkins of Brooklyn was an Evansville visitor Tuesday afternoon.

A. C. Gray and Ed. Jones were Janesville visitors yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walden and children of Madison, who have been visiting at the Pense home, returned to Madison last night.

STATUE TO LINCOLN IS UNVEILED TODAY

President Taft And Other Prominent Men Present—Presentation Speech Made by Henry Watterson.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—The bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln was today unveiled at the capitol building. President Taft and many distinguished men of the north and south were present. Henry Watterson presented the statue and Governor Wilson accepted the monument in behalf of the state.

President Taft, in his address, concluded with these words: "Let this memorial be dedicated as typical of the love which he, in whose memory it is reared, maintained for all Americans, with fatherly patience that had no counterpart since Bethlehem."

President Taft and his party arrived here from Cincinnati this morning and with the other distinguished guests of the occasion, including several visiting governors, were entertained at luncheon at the home of Governor and Mrs. Wilson. Immediately after luncheon the president was escorted to the capitol for the unveiling exercises.

In the rotunda of the capitol, where the statue was placed on a great marble pedestal, the following program was carried out:

Invocation by the Rev. Dr. M. W. Savage, pastor of the Church of the Messiah, of Louisville.

Oration of the day by Henry Watterson.

Unveiling of the statue by Miss Alice Speed, granddaughter of the donor.

Dedication address by President Taft.

Address of acceptance in behalf of the state by Governor Wilson.

As soon as the exercises were concluded the presidential party left the city for Louisville, where the president, with Henry Watterson, Senator Bradley and other members of the party spent tonight at a banquet under the auspices of the Louisville Press club. Tomorrow nearly all of the prominent participants in the exercises here today will accompany the president to Hodgenville for the dedication of the Lincoln memorial farm.

The Lincoln statue unveiled today is of bronze and was designed by A. A. Weinman, the well known New York sculptor. A pleasing feature in connection with the unveiling was the presence as invited guests of a score of former slaves belonging to the Speed family. At the conclusion of the exercises President Taft shook hands with each of the aged negroes.

STATUTE REVISION IS A MAMMOTH WORK

Huge Volume of Three Thousand Pages Will Be Ready to Issue by September 1912.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Nov. 8.—Satisfactory progress is being made on the revision of the Wisconsin statutes, authorized by the legislature of 1909, and it is the aim of the revisor, L. J. Nash, and the assistant revisor, A. P. Holtz, to issue it by September 1, 1912.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work is gained by the knowledge that about 15,000 pages of lawbook copy will be provided for the printer, and that its composition will involve the setting of some 12,000,000 ems of type. This task would keep one linotype boy for a year and a half, night and day, but could be finished in three or four months if two or three machines are used to set up the copy.

Covers General Statutes.

The completed work will make one huge volume of about 3,000 pages, printed on this paper in nine point type. The revision will cover all general statutes enacted by the Wisconsin legislature from the beginning, in 1830, to 1911, remaining in force at the present time.

Hereafter it is expected that the statutes will go to press sixty days after the close of the legislature, an accomplishment made possible by the fact that there will be no resetting of anything but new laws. It is proposed by the new plan to issue, soon after the adjournment of the legislature, in a single volume, all the general statutes of the state then in force, together with a table of all the five statutes that are special, private or local, and a complete alphabetical index.

All New Enactments.

This biennial volume will also contain all the new enactments of general law at each session, with revisions as may be enacted from time to time, and with historical notes of each section, showing its origin and growth, but no annotations of judicial interpretations, except, perhaps, cumulative sheets, bound as an insert, giving annotations to date of court decisions which have been handed down since

Moodie Makes a Call.

Andrew Moodie, a farmer residing near town, went to visit a neighbor, John Telford, the other night. As he opened the door leading into the house he fell, in the dark, through the open trap door of the cellar. At the moment Telford was ascending the cellar stairs, and Moodie dropped astride his neck. Both went to the bottom, Telford escaping unhurt, but Moodie sustaining a fracture of three ribs.—Smith Falls Dispatch in Toronto Mail.

Noble Ideal.

In the effort to appreciate various forms of greatness, let us not underestimate the value of a simply good life. Just to be good; to keep life pure from degrading elements, to make it constantly helpful in little ways to those who are touched by it to keep one's spirit always sweet, and avoid all manner of petty anger and irritability—that is an ideal as noble as it is difficult.

The Old Attendant Was Faithful.

When Napoleon died at Longwood, St. Helena, a rainstorm was raging. A faithful attendant threw over the body of the emperor the cloak he had worn at Marengo—a battle won by the incomparable Desaix after it had been lost by the commander-in-chief of the army of Italy.

Stung.

Peter Piper had picked A Peck of Pickled Peppers. The bell rang. "A Peck of Pickled Peppers distanced at the post!" shouted the announcer through his megaphone. Peter Piper took his hair. "Never again!" he cried, meaning that he meant to dally with the ponies no more forever.—Puck.

STATE DEATH RATE SHOWS A DECREASE IN RECENT MONTHS

Figures Prepared by Bureau of Vital Statistics Considered Most Encouraging.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—During the months of July, August and September, 1911, 6,232 deaths were reported to the state bureau of vital statistics by the various local registrars throughout the state. This is exclusive of 387 still-births and corresponds to an annual death rate of 10.57 per thousand estimated population. Comparing this rate with that of 11.37 per thousand for the months of July, August and September, 1910, a decrease of 1.8 per thousand for 1911 is revealed. During the third quarter of 1910, 7,107 deaths, exclusive of still-births, were reported. This shows a decrease in the number of deaths for 1911 of 875.

In Age Groups.

Considering the deaths reported by age groups, the statistical table shows that there is a decline of 367 in the number of deaths among children under one year of age; a decline of 202 in the age group from one to four years; and a decline in the number of deaths of persons sixty-five years of age and over. The decline of 559 in the number of deaths of children under four years of age is significant, in the board's opinion, and can be satisfactorily accounted for by a careful study of the deaths by diseases which are tabulated for the quarterly bulletin.

Tuberculosis As Cause.

Important causes of death with the number of deaths from each disease are as follows: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 455; other tuberculosis, 702; typhoid fever, 70; diphtheria, 58; scarlet fever, 40; measles, 15; whooping cough, 41; pneumonia, 250; diarrhea and enteritis under two years, 458; meningitis, 83; influenza, 5; puerperal septicemia, 16; cancer, 408; violence, 490; still-births, 387.

Increase Shown.

Comparing the number of deaths from certain diseases for the months of July, August and September, 1911, with a similar report for 1910, it is found there was an increase in the number of deaths reported from certain diseases and causes of death, as follows: Other forms of tuberculosis, 25; influenza, 2; cancer, 10; violence, 29. There was a decrease in the number of deaths from the following diseases: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 43; typhoid fever, 53; diphtheria, 19; scarlet fever, 25; measles, 8; whooping cough, 17; pneumonia, 10; diarrhea and enteritis under two years of age, 374; meningitis, 66; puerperal septicemia, 4; still-births, 6.

Encouraging Report.

The board is confident that there is increased accuracy in the report of deaths from month to month and know from the investigations it has made and from reports which the local registrars have sent in that practically every death occurring in the state is now recorded and the original certificate forwarded to its office as the law requires. The problem, therefore, is to account for the decline of 875 in the number of deaths reported as compared with the report of 1910.

The study of deaths, made for the bulletin by causes, shows that there is a decrease in 1911 as compared with 1910 of 591 deaths from the so-called preventable diseases. This, together with the decline of 559 in the number of deaths under four years of age, many of which resulted from other diseases than those tabulated, will account fully for the decrease. This report is especially encouraging for those who believe in the doctrine of preventive medicine and are assisting in the campaign of education which will eventually result, it is believed, in practically eliminating many easily preventable diseases from the state.

Rate Low in North.

The northern part of the state has a death rate for the period noted of 8.7 per thousand estimated population, while the rate for the central portion is 11.25, and for the southern section 11.5.

Considering the number of deaths from violence, it is found that 91 resulted from accidental drowning; 83 from railroad accidents, 64 from suicide, 24 from horse vehicles and horses, 23 from accidental gunshot wounds, 16 from accidental burns and scalds, 13 from accidental poisoning, 12 from heat prostration, 12 from accidents due to machinery, 12 from automobile accidents, 6 from sunstroke, 3 from electrical shocks, 2 from street car accidents, and one from hydrophobia. There were ten deaths from acute poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, 3 from tetanus, 2 from lead poisoning, and 2 from pellagra.

Seven of the deaths from infantile paralysis during the months of July, August and September are distributed as follows: Winnebago, 2; Fond du Lac, 1; Green, 1; Green Lake, 1; Langlade, 1 and Waushara, 1.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Don't Be Ordinary, Be Extraordinary.

THE most helpful advice that can be given the girl who wants to make her way in the world is not to be ordinary. The world is full of ordinary people. She should make up her mind not to be ordinary, but to be extraordinary. And if she succeeds in accomplishing this, she will immediately stand out. She will focus attention, whether of her employer or the public. And consequently, she will get on.

To be extraordinary, does not mean to be freakish or queer or sensational. It means simply what the word says—extraordinary, beyond or more than ordinary. What now does the ordinary person do in any position he may be filling? Let a girl look about her and see. She will not have to look hard or long, to discover plenty of ordinary people doing the work she is doing. Having observed their method of working, she should then make up her mind to go beyond them.

If she is a stenographer, she will find that the ordinary stenographer is careless, that she makes mistakes in her letters, mis-spells, doesn't know how to punctuate. If she has been doing her own work somewhat in this fashion, she should determine to perfect herself on all these points, to become a stenographer who turns out every letter faultless. Can't you see where such a stenographer will soon climb to? They are rare as white blackbirds.

If she is a salesgirl, let her follow the same course. Instead of being indifferent to her stock, knowing little about her goods, and scarcely civil to customers, let her keep everything in her charge epic and span and in its place, let her know all there is to know about every article she handles, and let her do her utmost to satisfy customers. It will not be long before she will be head of stock, assistant buyer, perhaps, buyer.

No matter what work a girl may have taken up, if she will make up her mind not to be the ordinary worker in it, but an extraordinary one, she will find success coming her way. And she will also find a keener pleasure in doing her work. For no one can go about his work in this interested, thorough-going fashion without getting a certain pleasure out of its accomplishment.

WINTER OPTIMISTS AND PESSIMISTS
The difference is small:
The optimist sees the doughnut.
The pessimist sees the hole.

BEGINNINGS.

The dinners of occasions are always begun with an appetizer of some kind, and although it seems to be a custom to belong to the last ten years, it is really an old one. It is said that the physician of Louis XIV., who was a gourmand, ordered that he should first be served with thin slices of toast spread with marrow, caviare and other pungent foods, for the purpose of appeasing his appetite and conserving his health. Thus came about the introduction of the canapés. Canapés are made from white, graham and brown bread, sliced very thin and cut in various shapes. They may be toasted, buttered or fried and covered with any number of mixtures.

Cucumber and Caviare.—On a circular piece of buttered toast place a slice of cucumber and in the center of the cucumber put a little caviare.

Anchovy Canapés.—Cut bread in slices one-quarter of an inch thick, cut in circles, dip in melted butter, sprinkle with salt and cayenne; spread with anchovy paste and sprinkle with a few drops of lemon juice.

Nut and Olive Canapés.—Cut bread in crescents. Fry in deep fat. Mix equal quantities of chopped nuts and garnish with small diamonds of pimientos.

Tongue Canapés.—Toast triangles of bread, spread with butter. Cut slices of cooked tongue in small pieces. Mix with creamed butter; add two tablespoonsful of capers to a half cup of tongue. Spread on the bread. Sprinkle with salt, cayenne and garnish with water cress.

Sardine Canapés.—Cut brown bread in circles, spread with butter and heat in the oven. Pound sardines to a paste. Mix with an equal amount of chopped hard eggs, season with lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce. Spread on the bread and garnish with one slice of cucumber and hard cooked white of egg cut in petal shape, to represent a daisy.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By A. W. MACY.

PUNISHMENT BY THE PILLORY.

The pillory was used as a means of punishment for many hundreds of years in European countries. It usually consisted of a wooden frame erected on a stool, with holes and moving boards for the admission of the head and hands. It was formerly used to punish those convicted of practicing frauds or shams of any kind. The offender's head and hands were inclosed in the frame, which must have been a decidedly uncomfortable position, and all who passed that way were at liberty to mock and jeer him all they wished. It was a fine opportunity to "get even" with one's enemy. Later on the pillory came to be used for the punishment of political and religious offenders, and much gross injustice was done in this way. Sometimes those who were thus made to suffer for their opinions gloried in it, looking upon it as "persecution for righteousness sake." In cases of this kind the friends of the condemned person would gather around him and give him their sympathy. The pillory was abolished in England by act of Parliament, June 30, 1837.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

The Golden Quince and Its Rich, Mel-low Flavored Products.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

Quince preserves always brings to mind the tiny, low glass dishes, one or two of which may possibly be stored along with some pieces of your great grandmother's precious china. They both belong to the period when candying was not understood and all sweetmeats were made so rich in sugar as to resist the fermentative bacteria more or less successfully. The quince must be well understood to produce the best results in cooking. It must be softened by long cooking before sugar is added, otherwise it will be hard and unpalatable. It needs to be cooked until of a deep red color to bring out its best flavor, and it is much better when cut no smaller than olives. If the fruit is small, cut it in quarters only. A quince that is not well ripened is not worth using and if touched by frost it is injured for preserving or jolly making.

Quinces are an economical fruit because they can be kept for weeks in a cool place and because all portions may be used for some purpose. The parings make an excellent jelly with the addition of a little whole fruit, but do not try to cook the cores and seeds, for they are so mucilaginous as to discolor and even make the jelly rosy. The seeds are a useful ingredient in lotions, and quince with a rough cloth and then wash well before using. A firm, sweet apple has much the same texture as the quince, and for economy, or to please the taste, these are often added to quince preserves, using about one-third apple; and for a plain sauce take equal parts of both.

The fireless cooker is great help in cooking quinces, for it gives them a deep color and without breaking, or without discoloring the juice. It also makes a clearer jelly than the kettle made.

For quince jelly take the parings after making preserves and one or two whole quinces, cut in small pieces, discarding the cores, and being sure that the seed is not overlooked. Put the quince into a fireless cooker with water to come half way up the fruit in the kettle and let stand over night. If cooked on the range, cover the quince with water and cook all day on the back of the range, or on an asbestos mat to keep from burning.

Strain carefully without pressure through a doubled cheese cloth and save the pulp for other uses. Measure the juice and cook for twenty minutes, skimming well. Add three-quarters as much sugar, and have it well heated in the oven before turning it into the hot juice. Cook a few minutes and turn into jelly tumblers. Too much sugar and too long cooking spoil quince jelly and carry it beyond the point where it will thicken. Good quince jelly is often made with half as much sugar as juice by measurement. Let the jelly glasses stand a few hours, then cover with paraffine, melted. The jelly should be perfectly clear and of a deep wine color.

Equal parts of sweet apples and quince make a fine jelly, using equal measures of sugar and juice. The pulp left after draining the juice off for jelly may be added and used to make a jam or marmalade. Or add to sweet apples it makes a pleasantly flavored sauce.

Quince preserves is so rich that it is best to seal it in flat jars; it will keep several years and grow finer flavored with age. Rub the quince and wash and pare. Cut in quarters and drop into cold water to stand until ready for use. Put two quarts of cold water on one quart of parings and cook until soft; drain the juice. Put the quince quarters into the juice on the back of the range, or in the fireless cooker until tender enough to be pierced with a knitting needle.

Take out carefully with a skimmer in order not to break the pieces, and lay them round on a platter. Measure the juice and to each two cups allow one and one-half cups of sugar, or, if liked richer, use two cups. Bring the syrup to the boiling point and cook five minutes, skimming well. Add the quince and simmer twenty minutes. Take out the fruit and put into jars; reduce the syrup by cooking until it begins to thicken, then pour over the fruit and seal.

Baked quinces make a fine dessert. Pare, core the quince, and place in a baking dish. Fill the centers with sugar and cover with water. Set in the fireless cooker, or slow oven, for six hours. If baked in the oven, the water must be replenished. Serve with beaten cream.

Draw Line at Rehearsal.

Fred Lennox, spending the summer in Chicago, took a flat close to a railroad, which he surrendered after a week's occupancy. "I think I could have become used to the trains going by in the night," he said, "but every morning at eight o'clock two engines came under my window and rehearsed until noon."

SEALSKIN AND ERMINE.

Here is a lovely coat of sealskin which I am sure will appeal to the heart of every woman with refined dress taste. Its elegance lies principally in its simplicity—the only decoration three large braided ornaments, which also serve as a closing purpose. With this is worn a turban and muff of sealskin with ermine bands and an ermine scarf.

PLAIN, BUT PRACTICAL.

Today our model is of a long coat of brown diagonal cloth, made perfectly plain with deep inside pockets on each side, and a huge collar trimmed with Scotch plaid silk, in which the predominating colors are brown, green and blue.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

THE TOMATO.

The tomato contains very little nutriment, its value depending upon malic and oxalic acids, the former being valuable but much better supplied in the apple. The tomato can no more be a direct cause of cancer, as has been charged, than the apple or than meat or milk, but being extremely acid in combination with starches and proteid foods like beans and meat, it can be more effective in bringing about the disorganization of nutrition which facilitates the development of cancer, than any other food, not excepting flesh, which has been assigned as the cause of cancer by many investigators. The tomato should be combined only with fruits or vegetables, if at all, and it is best eaten fresh.

Value of Wisdom.

It was remarked by Seneca that a wise man is provided for occurrences of every kind; the good he controls, the bad he vanquishes; in prosperity he betrays no presumption, and in adversity he feels no despondency. The wisdom he possesses enables him to bear up with heroism under all reverses.

Sweetening Sour Dish Cloths

One trouble with dishcloths is that they are hard to keep sweet, but they can easily be kept in good condition by washing occasionally in lukewarm water to which has been added a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder; then scald, rinse and hang in the sunshine and fresh air to dry. Cheesecloth, unbleached cotton and heavy linen crash make most satisfactory dishcloths.

Where kitchen utensils become burnt or very "sticky," pot rings are easiest to use.

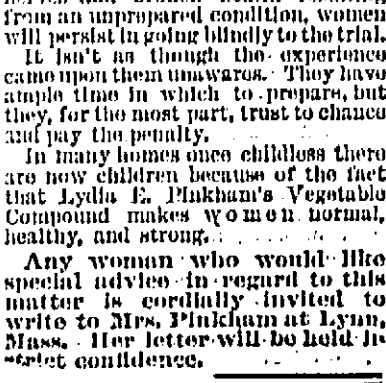

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman now-a-days has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach with an organism untrained for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, women will persist in going blindly to the trial. It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

Thought for Today

By MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE.

INITIATIVE, REFERENDUM AND RECALL.

A READER asks me to explain the Initiative, Referendum and Recall. These progressive measures all have one object,—to make government by the people more secure. The old-fashioned New England town meeting is the best example of self-government, often cited as the best example of self-government, but it is suited only to the small community. All the people of a state cannot very well assemble at the capitol to make laws, so we elect representatives. They may not give us the laws we want. Heretofore there has been nothing to do in such a case except to elect a new legislature,—always a slow and often an unsatisfactory remedy. The Initiative is a simple device to strengthen government at this weak point. Suppose the people of a state regard the giving of railroad passes to officials a bad thing, and the legislature will not pass a law prohibiting the giving of such favors. A bill in the form of a petition is circulated among the people over the state. If a required per cent of voters sign the petition the Secretary of State sends a copy of the proposed law to every legal voter in the state, and on election day the question is decided by a majority of the votes cast. You really have the principle of the New England town meeting carried out. Every voter has had his chance to cast his ballot for or against the proposed law.

To illustrate the Referendum: Suppose the legislature makes what the people believe an extravagant appropriation. The Referendum enables the taxpayers to insist upon the submission of the question to a vote and the procedure is practically the same as for the Initiative.

The Initiative and Referendum apply to laws,—the Recall to officials. It is a practical device for getting rid of, through petition and election, an unfaithful officer without waiting until his term of office expires.

Snakes for Protection.

A London scientist has suggested that the custom of keeping house snakes, so prevalent in the tropics, now and in all sections of the world in ancient days, be revived as a precaution against rats that are now proved to be the vehicles of plague germs. The snake is regarded as a much surer exterminator of rats than either terriers or cats.

Beggar's Strange Collection.

A quaint kit was that of a tramp who was charged at Kingston (Ireland) recently with begging. When searched he was found to have six: one lead pencil, four pairs of spectacles, two knives, three linen collars, three boxes of matches, a kit-bag, a looking-glass, a tooth brush, two pairs of jacks, a magnifying glass, a pipe and fourpence-halfpenny.

FOR BABY'S PILLOW.

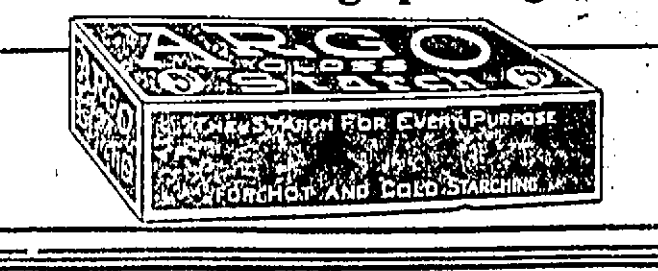

For the baby pillow nothing could be daintier than this pretty word surrounded by forget-me-nots. A few of the flowers may be scattered over the rest of the pillow with good effect. The work may be done in white or colors. The letters are first padded and then worked closely over and over. The leaves and flowers are done in the wild satin stitch with the dots as eyes and the stems in the outline stitch. Mercerized cotton No. 25 will be suitable for the embroidery.

M. E. BROTHERHOOD HAS FIRST PROGRAM

Initial Banquet and Program of Session Held Last Evening Well Attended and Appreciated.

Good attendance and a hearty appreciation marked the initial meeting of the Brotherhood of the Carrell Memorial Methodist church held last evening in the church parlors. This is the second year of the organization and from the spirit and enthusiasm manifested in the formal and informal talks it is firmly established and looks forward to a greater growth and wider scope of usefulness.

A fine banquet was served in the church dining room at 6:45 o'clock after which an entertaining and instructive program was given. The orchestra was heartily cheered, as were also E. E. Van Pool, who sang two pleasing solos, and Miss Mina Catter, who contributed very well rendered humorous readings. E. E. Loomis, in his talk on "The Outlook for the Coming Year in This Chapter," spoke in an optimistic vein, and gave a number of good suggestions for extending the usefulness and power of the brotherhood. Dr. F. T. Richards, with abundant and persuasive humor, told what had been received from the brotherhood of the past year, making especial mention of the speakers who had been brought from outside the city. Methods of improving the conducting of the meetings were suggested by S. C. Burnham. He said the brotherhood could, with profit, adopt some of the efficient methods of the fraternal societies.

Offering an opportunity to help men was a better way of getting men to join the brotherhood than the promise of personal profit, according to George A. Jacobs, who spoke on means of inducing men to join the movement. J. L. Hay also gave an interesting talk on means of increasing interest in the meetings. Informal talks were given by H. E. Hiles, C. L. Miller, and others. District Superintendent John H. Reynolds contributed a very good story.

EXPERT ACCOUNTANT OVERCOME BY LIQUOR

Occasional Drink Led to Unconquerable Habit—Sought Real Treatment for Relief—Read His Letter

There goes a "thunder" This is not the kind of expression in the world to hear addressed to one self, but it was truthfully directed at me, until I pulled myself together and accepted an invitation to test the efficacy of The Neal three day cure.

At first I scoffed at the thought and boasted of my ability to "take a glass of beer or let it alone." I had successfully demonstrated my ability to take a glass, several of them, but when it came to letting it alone, I was counted out. I became a physical wreck, was lost to all sense of shame, neglected my business, rolled home drunk, heavily drunk in broad daylight, the butt of the small boy's jokes and the eyesore of the neighborhood, where once I was a respected resident.

When I believed myself to be navigating successfully while in my cups, I was being exhibited, by myself, in a most degrading role.

It was not until my hand had been saved from committing a crime that I listened to the voice that guided me in the right direction. I agreed to try the cure, and both the treatment and myself made good.

Three short days sufficed for my complete reformation, and since I emerged from The Neal Institute fully cured, I swear I have had no desire to return to the swill tub of the degenerate.

I am happy in the center of my family, and my reason tells me they are happy in me.

I have had 10 years at least added to my life, and today, I am doing double the work I performed before I had occasion to take the Neal cure for the liquor habit.

Yours gratefully, Name and address of this gentleman will be given to any one interested.

This is the experience of one man, a man well known in the business world. His experience is but a repetition of hundreds of others who have taken the cure.

While it is a rule of the Institute not to make the names of patients public, but to hold them in the strictest confidence, this man wishes his cure made known.

What the Neal cure did for him it can do for any other man or woman who drinks to excess. Three days' time at the Neal Institute is all that is required to completely cure any one of the habit of drink, and the pleasant, homelike surroundings make those few short days a period of happiness and rest.

Many drinkers think to quit is but a matter of will power. This is not so, for the poison within the system overcame all good intentions. What must be had is an antidote. This the Neal Cure supplies. No hypodermic injections are used. Just small doses of liquid, pleasant to take, are administered. There is no struggle, no suffering to undergo, and nothing that is in any way disagreeable. The treatment destroys the desire for drink by neutralizing the poisons that cause the craving, and in three days' time a cure is effected.

The patient leaves the Institute free from the habit, with a clear brain and master of himself. There are no failures; all are cured. This is guaranteed, so there is no chance for failure.

If you are a drinker, of strong drink, or if you have a friend, a father, a brother, a mother, a sister, a husband, or a wife, who is sending them to this home of salvation and I send them to do what they can't do for themselves.

Don't put it off another day. Call in person, write or telephone The Neal Institute, 443 Cross Street, telephone Main 2726, Milwaukee, Wis.

MISS MINERVA and WILLIAM GREEN HILL

By FRANCES BOYD CALHOUN

The speaker smiled benignly down upon them; lifting them up in his arms he stood the little boys upon the table. He thought the touching sight of those innocent and tender little orphans would empty the pockets of the audience. Billy turned red with embarrassment at his conspicuous position, while Jimmy grinned happily at the amused congregation. Horrified Miss Minerva half rose to her feet, but decided to remain where she was. She was a timid woman and did not know what course she ought to pursue. Besides, she had just caught the Major's smile.

"And how long have you been an orphan?" the preacher was asking of Billy.

"Ever since me an' Wilkes Booth Lincoln's born," sweetly responded the child.

"I 'bout the orphanest boy they is," volunteered Jimmy.

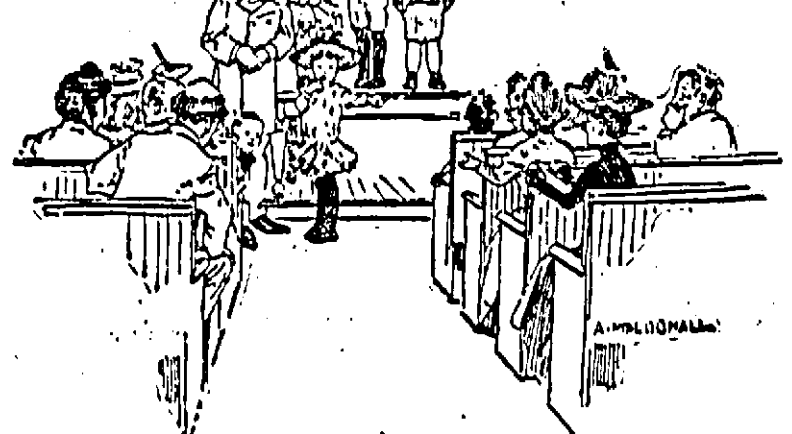

Frances, responding to the latter's invitation, had crawled over her father's legs before he realized what was happening. She, too, went smiling down the aisle, her stiff white dress standing straight up in the back like a strutting gobbler's tail. She grabbed hold of the man's hand, and was promptly lifted to the table beside the other "orphans." Tears beaded in the good preacher's eyes as he turned to the giggling audience and said in a pathetic voice, "Think of it, my friends, this beautiful little girl has no mother."

Poor Mrs. Black! A hundred pairs of eyes sought her pew and focused themselves upon the pretty young woman sitting there, red, angry, and shamefaced. Mr. Black was visibly amused and could hardly keep from laughing aloud.

As Frances passed by the Hamiltons' pew in her promenade down the aisle, Mrs. Hamilton leaned across her husband and made an attempt to clutch Lina; but she was too late; already that disquieted little "orphan" was gliding with stately, conscious tread to join the others. This was too much for the audience. A few boys laughed out and for the first time the preacher's suspicions were aroused. As he clasped Lina's slender, graceful little hand he asked:

"And you have no father or mother, little girl?"

"Yes, I have, too," she angrily retorted. "My father and mother are sitting right there," and she pointed a slim forefinger to her crimson, embarrassed parents.

CHAPTER XIII.

Job and Polle Bumpus.

"I never have told a down-right falsehood," said Lina. "Mother taught me how wicked it is to tell stories. Did you ever tell a fib to your mother, Frances?"

"Tah! no use to try to 'celve my mama," was the reply of the other little girl; "she's got such gimlet eyes and ears she can tell with 'em shut if you're blubbing. I gave up hope long ago, so I just go 'long and tell her the plain gospel truth when she asks me, 'cause I know those gimlet eyes and ears of hers 're going to worm it out of me somehow."

"Grown folks pin you down so close sometimes," said Jimmy, "you bound to varicute a little; and I always tell nated Miss Polle. It's a sompin' that grows in your nose and has to be named what you's named. She's named Miss Polle and she's got a polypus."

"I'm mighty glad my mama ain't got no Eva-pus in her head," was Jimmy's comment. "Ain't you glad, Billy, your Aunt Minerva ain't got no Miss Minerva-pus?"

"I sho' is," fervently replied Miss Minerva's nephew; "she's hard 'nough to manage now like she is."

"I'm awful good to Miss Polle," said Frances. "I take her sompin' good to eat 'most every day. I took her two pieces of pie this morning; I ate one piece on the way and she gimme the other piece when I got there. I jus' don't believe she could get 'long at all 'thout me to carry her the good things to eat that my mama send her; I take her pie all the time; she says they're the best smol'ing pies she smol'."

"You 'bout the piggiest girl they is," said Jimmy, "all time got to eat up a poor old woman's pie. You'll have a Frances-pus in your stomach first thing you know."

"She's got a horn that you talk 'bout," continued the little girl, serenely contemptuous of Jimmy's adverse criticism, "and 'fore I know how you talk into it, she says to me one day, 'How's your ma?' and stuck that old horn at me; so I put it to my ear, too, and there we set; she got one end of the horn to her ear and I got the other end to my ear; so when I saw this wasn't going to work I took it and blew into it; you-all'd died a laughing to see the way I did. But now I can talk 'thout it's good's anybody."

"That is an ear trumpet, Frances," said Lina; "it is not a horn."

"Let's play 'Hide the Switch,'" suggested Billy.

"I'm going to hide it first," cried Frances.

"Now, you ain't," objected Jimmy, "you all time got to hide the switch first. I'm going to hide it first myself."

"No, I'm going to say 'William Com Trimbution,'" said Frances, "and see who's going to hide it first. Now you all spraddle out your fingers."

CHAPTER XIV.

Mr. Algernon Jones.

Again it was Monday, with the Ladies Aid Society in session. Jimmy was sitting on the grass in his own front yard, in full view of Sarah Jane, who was ironing clothes in her cabin with strict orders to keep him at home. Billy was in the swing in Miss Minerva's yard.

"Come on over," he invited.

"I can't," was the reply across the fence. "I'm so good now I 'bout got 'ligion; I reckon I'm going to be a milt'mary or a politician, one or 't'her when I'm a grown-up man 'cause I'm so good; I ain't got but five whippings this week. I been good ever since I let you 'sande me to play injun. I'm the gooddest boy in this town, I spec. Sometimes I get scared 'bout being so good 'cause I hear a woman say if you ain't got no sense, once. You come on over here; you ain't trying to be good like what I'm trying, and Miss Minerva don't never do nothing a tall to you 'cepting put you to bed."

"I'd rather to get whipp'd fifty hundred times 'n to huffer go to bed in the daytime with Aunt Minerva lookin' at you. An' her specs can see right 'thout you plumb to the bone. Now, I can't come over there 'cause she made me promise not to. I ain't never go back on my word yit."

"I hope mama won't never ask me to promise her nothing a tall, 'cause I spec' I'm the most forgettinest little boy they is. But I'm so glad I'm so good. I ain't never going to be bad no more; so you might just as well quit beggin' me to come over and swing, you needn't ask me no more, 'tain't no use a tall."

"I ain't a-beggin' you," cried Billy contemptuously. "You can set on yo' mammy's grass where you is, an' be good from now till Judgment Day an' 't won't make no change in my business."

"I ain't going to be 'ficed into no meanness, 'cause I'm so good," continued the reformed one, after a short silence during which he had seen Sarah Jane turn her back to him, "but I don't believe it'll be no harm jus' to come over and set in the swing with you; maybe I can 'fluence you to be good like me and keep you from 'ficing little boys into mischief. I think I'll just come over and set a while and help you to be good," and he started to the fence. "Sarah Jane turned around in time to frustrate his plans."

"You git right back, Jimmy," she yelled, "you git erway 'rom dat-ar fence an' quit confabbin' wid dat-ar Willyum. Fixin' to make some mo' injuns out o' yo-selves, ain't yeh, or some yuther kin o' skeerrows?"

Billy strolled to the other side of the big yard and climbed up and got on the tall gate post. A stranger, coming from the opposite direction, stopped and spoke to him.

"Does Mr. John Smith live here?" he asked.

Danger In Delay

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Janesville People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, and Bright's disease, follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy Doan's Kidney Pills which has cured people right here in Janesville.

Benjamin Shalleross, 269 S. River St. Janesville Wis. says: "Two years ago I had a great deal of trouble from inactive kidneys. The secretions from my kidneys contained sediment and were otherwise disordered. My back became so lame that it was difficult for me to stoop or lift and I became all run down. After using Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, these symptoms of kidney complaint disappeared and I enjoyed much better health. I could not be induced to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills were I not certain of their merits."
